ADORATION

A photograph of a church interior during a Vespers service. Several people are seated in rows of wooden chairs, facing towards the right side of the frame. In the foreground, an older man with white hair, wearing a dark blue jacket and grey trousers, sits with his hands clasped. Next to him, another man in a dark jacket and blue trousers is also seated. In the background, a large wooden organ is visible, and a few more people are seated further back. The church has light-colored walls and two tall windows. The floor is made of large stone tiles.
